

Jason J Turner, Head of School, Graduate School of Business

During my time in academia I have been involved in a number of commercial and Government led projects. With regards the experience of particular relevance to the focus of this Erasmus+ grant, I have worked in and led funded projects both in the UK and in Malaysia concerned with preparing graduates from the workplace, the student experience and international student recruitment. In the UK I was involved in an entrepreneurial project which was designed to encourage students to take ownership of a business initiative within the framework of the academic curriculum. Both in the UK and Malaysia I led the strategy and operational aspects of short courses for students from Germany, India and Denmark which not only contained the academic component, it involved the pastoral care required for dealing with students who were away from their home institution.
